☐ Significant family or other ties outside the United States ☐ Lack of legal status in the United States ☐ Subject to removal or deportation after serving any period of incarceration ☐ Prior failure to appear in court as ordered Prior attempt(s) to evade law enforcement ☐ Use of alias(es) or false documents ☐ Background information unknown or unverified ☐ Prior violations of probation, parole, or supervised release OTHER REASONS OR FURTHER EXPLANATION: Evidence proffered by the United States demonstrated that there is a serious risk that defendant will attempt to flee or evade law enforcement if released and may attempt to obstruct justice by attempting to tamper with potential witnesses. Specifically, evidence proffered by the United States was that federal law enforcement agents attempted to serve the arrest warrant on Schroer in Cahokia, Illinois. Schroer was not present at the residence, but a young woman at the residence called Schroer and the agents spoke to Schroer on speakerphone. Schroer advised that agents that was going to immediately turn himself into the FBI. However, Schroer never surrendered himself as he stated he would; instead, it appears from the evidence that he attempted to evade arrest and was apprehended only after agents conducted pretty extensive surveillance in order to apprehend him. Evidence presented also demonstrated that during the time Schroer was evading arrest, he was using illicit substances. Evidence presented at the hearing also demonstrated that, in 2019, when Schroer was ordered to home confinement, he cut off his GPS bracelet. When Schroer was in jail for violating an order of protection he became aware of the federal investigation and was overheard attempting to coach associates on what to say if they were approached by law enforcement and advised an associate to falsely implicate two other individuals in order to delay the federal investigation. Part IV - Directions Regarding Detention The defendant is remanded to the custody of the Attorney General or to the Attorney General's designated representative for confinement in a corrections facility separate, to the extent practicable, from persons awaiting or serving sentences or being held in custody pending appeal. The defendant must be afforded a reasonable opportunity for private consultation with defense counsel. On order of a court of the United States or on request of an attorney for the Government, the person in charge of the corrections facility must deliver the defendant to a United States Marshal for the purpose of an appearance in
